Hi Videoder!

I haven't read the license agreement of the Videoder downloader application yet, but I don't think that it would have any problem to create a Chocolatey package for this.

Chocolatey is a package manager for Windows, which allows the users to automatically install and keep up-to-date their software, just like on Linux apt, apt-get or pacman does.

It would be cool to have Videoder in this community.
This would be also beneficial for you since more users can discover your product.

I'm willing to create the package for this if you are interested.

Regards, Balazs.
